

Don Glover- Former Hurst Engineer

Don Glover was an engineer with Hurst starting in 1967. In his time at Hurst he worked on the team that developed many of the products and specialty cars. We are honored to have Don joining us for the Hurst Showcase. He is basically an encyclopedia for all things Hurst. Don will be available all weekend with many of his blueprints, products and more. When he's not talking to the fans or signing autographs, he will be conducting seminars or describing the Hurst items that he will have on display. We would also like to recognize Don as a key team member with us since the development of the Hurst Nationals.

Don was first introduced to Hurst-Campbell when he and a few friends visited George Hurst's shop in Abington, PA in 1959. Don joined Hurst in 1967, just in time to be involved in the specialty vehicle program which included the Hurst/Olds. He designed several Hurst shifters and even the "Hurst Equipped" logo. Stepping away from automotive products, Don was part of the team that created the Jaws of Life – yes, the lifesaving device used by almost every fire department! Basically, if it came from Hurst between 1967 and 1976, Don's fingerprints are probably on it!
